Housing, Homelessness and Multiple disadvantage: responding to survivors of domestic abuse

We are very excited to announce that the upcoming DVCN Conference will be focusing on the challenges within the Housing sector when responding to the needs of survivors of domestic abuse experiencing multiple disadvantage and homelessness.

The conference will include a variety of expert speakers from across the country working in the Housing sector and in specialist services.

The event will present examples of good practice around safe and appropriate service responses for survivors and perpetrators and successful commissioning approaches. The day will also provide opportunities for questions to the expert panel.
